It was a relaxing and enjoyable trip, but nothing out of the ordinary. Or, so I thought. After finding the caves, I decided to visit some touristy spots to take some pictures. As I was passing one of the shops, I spotted a mask on the shelf. Somehow this mask unnerved me and I thought it was a good opportunity to have a little fun. I brought it home, flipped it over, and that's when I saw this. Well, that's more than just creepy, right? I love the attention to detail in this mask: perfectly knotted black hair, the clothing on the woman's head and body, the "eye" placement, the different colored skin of the face, and the difference in the skin tones among her legs, arms, and the rest of the body. As soon as I saw it, I knew I had to have it in my collection. This mask is more than just creepy, though--it's horrifyingly beautiful.Observational learning in dementia care in Finland. To observe and evaluate daily care of dementia patients in Finnish nursing homes and care centers and analyse how learning by observing can be improved. Observational studies. We performed a single-subject, multiple baseline, cross-over study of 9 participants (3 men, 6 women) who were suffering from dementia due to Alzheimer's disease. The study was carried out at three nursing homes in Pori, Finland. A total of 798 patient days from the participants' baseline was observed. Each participant had two intervention periods with different activities. The daily care activities of each patient were observed during the intervention periods. Learning was evaluated by analyzing the frequencies and the 6d1f23a050
